Transportation Services

Reliable, Responsible, Secure

A&D Environmental’s turnkey services include the reliable, responsible transportation and disposal of hazardous materials and non-hazardous solids, sludges, and liquids, in both drums and in bulk quantities. With a full range of capabilities and broad, deep experience, we have what it takes to deliver high-quality, highly confident services that offer greater value, reduce your risk, and provide complete peace of mind: one provider, comprehensive capabilities. Our day-to-day expertise includes the proper identification, management, packaging labeling, manifesting, loading, transportation, and disposal of a broad range of materials.

Geographic reach and rapid response. We are certified to operate in 27 states, giving us the ability to respond rapidly to any service request and deliver the results you need, when you need them.

Compliance confidence. We have the technical skills to provide material characteristics for the proper classification of products and materials to help clients stay in compliance with all appropriate regulations at all levels of government.

Modern fleet. As a certified/licensed waste transporter, we own a fleet of vehicles that meet or exceed every applicable regulatory requirement. These include dump trailers, vacuum trucks, tanker trucks, tanker services, roll-off boxes, vacuum boxes, and sludge boxes.

Value. In addition to having some of the industry’s most competitive rates, A&D is a one-stop shop for customers with environmental issues. This eliminates the need for a middle man, and enables us to be a high-value provider of transportation services – and all waste management services – saving you time, money, and headaches.

Financial strength for added accountability. A&D is financially sound, stable, and secure. This ensures that we not only have the resources to provide the broadest possible range of services, technology, and experience to our customers, but that we also have the financial strength to back up everything we do.

Minimized risk, no-worry service. We have an exceptional compliance record, and a proven track record of safety. Combined with our expertise and skills, this background – which has helped us maintain strong working relationships with regulators – enables A&D to minimize potential risks to customers by providing no-worry, highly confident service.
