WE PROVIDE Underground Storage Tank (UST) Removal

A&D Environmental Services provides proven Underground Storage Tank (UST) removal and closure-in-place services.

Remediating underground storage tanks can be costly and risky, particularly if a tank is leaking and has resulted in the contamination of groundwater and the surrounding soil. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state environmental offices have strict rules, regulations and procedures that owners and operators must follow to make sure there is no hazardous substance released to the environment.

Proper removal, closure and remediation of USTs will: 1) assure your property's value is not negatively impacted by high risk conditions; 2) satisfy buyers, insurance companies and lenders; and 3) reduce your overall environmental liability.

A&D has completed UST removal and closure jobs ranging from 300 gallons to over 20,000 gallons from a vast array of clients, including automotive service stations, airports and fleet fueling facilities, industrial manufacturing sites, dry cleaners, and even residences.

A&D's wide range of capabilities ensure that you get all of your UST services from one provider.

We Provide:

- Identification of underground utilities;
- Notification to all applicable state and local environmental authorities;
- Excavation of material as needed to gain access to UST and fill ports;
- Removal and management of remaining tank contents;
- Creation of an inert environment within the UST to minimize the risk of fire and/or explosion;
- Removal of USTs or activities necessary for closure in place using appropriate materials (e.g., flowable fill, concrete, foam);
- Supply line removal, decontamination and/or disposal;
- Vent removal and vapor control;
- Disposal of the UST and any residual liquids;
- Sampling, remediation and disposal of any contaminated soils or media;
